Welcome to the Combined Child and Adolescent Psychoanalytic Fellowship Program and Candidate Seminar. This Fellowship Program and Candidate Seminar is intended as an opportunity for clinicians working with children and adolescents and child psychoanalytic candidates to come together around a shared interest in psychodynamic and psychoanalytic approaches to the treatment of children, adolescents and their families. Drawing on a clinical, case-based approach, this course will facilitate discussions of developmental, psychodynamic and psychoanalytic theory and technique. Topics to be covered include assessment, psychopathology, parent work, therapeutic action, impasses, and the demands of telehealth.

Both Candidates and Fellows will be offered the opportunity to present their child and adolescent cases. Particular attention will be paid to the specific technical approaches in working with each child, given the stage of development and unique presenting challenges and concerns. Senior child and adult psychotherapists and psychoanalysts from both the Washington Baltimore Center for Psychoanalysis and the Contemporary Freudian Society will serve as faculty, discussants and participants.

The course syllabus will include two recommended readings for the Fellowship Program and Candidate Seminar, in particular, along with a list of other suggested readings submitted by the Child and Adolescent Faculty of the Baltimore Washington Center for Psychoanalysis and the Contemporary Freudian Society. Another extensive list of resources will be distributed, put forth by members of the Association for Child Psychoanalysis that address issues of diversity in child work. These readings will highlight contemporary topics that impact those working with children today, including issues around race, gender, trauma, violence and loss, and contemporary issues that affect families today. Finally, an additional required reading may be assigned, relevant to the specifics of any given case presentation, in an effort to promote further understanding and discussion. This required reading will be sent to all participants in advance.

The Fellowship/Seminar will meet for 16 sessions, all on Monday evening from 8-9:30 pm, to be held on the following dates, via Zoom: 09/14; 10/05; 10/19; 11/02; 11/16; 11/30; 12/07; 12/21; 01/04; 01/25; 02/01; 02/22; 03/08; 03/22; 04/05; 04/19.

An optional post-meeting mentorship will be offered to Child Fellows ONLY after each session. This meeting will be run by Dr. Anne Adelman from 9:30-10:00 pm to answer further questions about the case presentation, readings, discussions, among other topics.

Course Objectives

For each clinical presentation, participants will be able to:

1. Describe assessment considerations, treatment recommendations and the evolving psychotherapeutic or psychoanalytic process.
2. List technical considerations, including those relevant to telehealth, regarding the nature and timing of interventions with children and adolescents from various phases of development.
3. Identify the role that diversity plays in the understanding of the therapeutic work between a child and therapist/psychoanalyst.
4. Describe the mutative factors (intrapsychic, interpersonal, external), particular to each treatment.
