Presentation: One way to manage the tumult of transforming into an adult is to be the agent of change in the body, be that weight, gender or skin (tattoos or plastic surgery). Do such physical changes advance the young adult's blossoming into adulthood? Do they sidestep this blossoming by virtue of their concreteness? A bit of both? Using multiple vignettes of adolescents and young adults who morph the body, we consider the multiple meanings, possible displacements and positive expressions of these events.

Presenter: Justine Kalas Reeves, DPsych, is a Child, Adolescent and Adult Analyst. She is a member of the Contemporary Freudian Society and Past Director of the Jenny Waelder Hall Nursery. She teaches at Chengdu University in China. Dr. Reeves attended the University of Chicago and the Silberman School and University of London. She practices in Woodley Park, DC.

Who should attend?

The case conference is extended to psychoanalysts, psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, licensed counselors, mental health students, clergy and other mental health providers interested in psychoanalytic theory, practice and perspectives.

Purpose of the Case Conference:

- The case conference is designed to inform clinicians working with a range of client populations.
- Promote peer interaction with therapists and clergy from a variety of clinical settings and mental health disciplines in the community.
- Provide a way to reach many in the Washington community who are isolated from opportunities to learn from experienced peers.

Objectives of the Case Conference: Participants will be able to:

- identify the concrete ways that adolescents/young adults transform the body.
- translate the patient's actions into interpretations of psychical phenomena.
- calibrate whether a patient can use interpretations of the transformation wrought on the physical body to develop self-awareness.
- consider with the patient the relationship of concrete changes of the body to internal and psychical wishes/changes.

Format of the Case Conference:

- A prepared psychotherapeutic or psychoanalytic case will be presented and discussed from a variety of theoretical points of view.
- A question and answer period will follow the case presentation.
